CYBER EDUCATION SYMPOSIUM

BUILDING THE NEXT GENERATION OF CYBER LEADERS

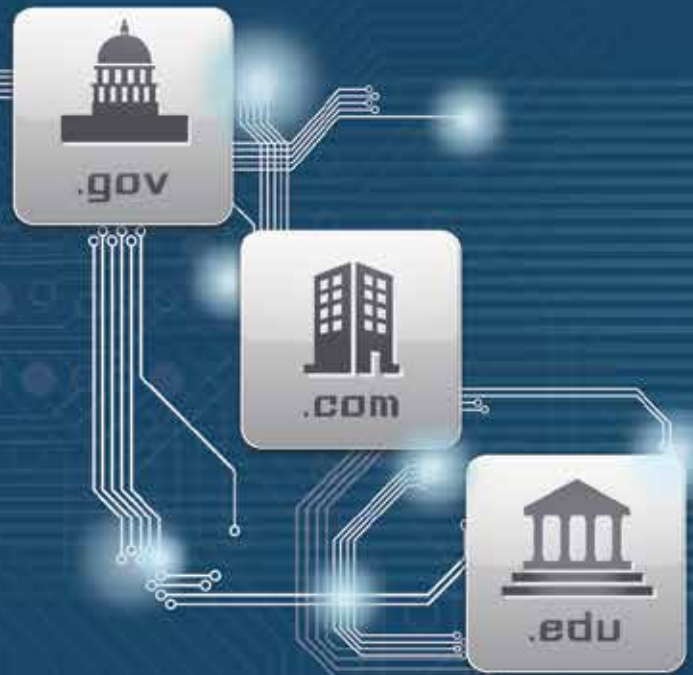

"Existing cybersecurity training and personnel development programs, while good, are limited in focus and lack unity in effort. In order to effectively ensure our continued technical advantage and future cybersecurity, we must develop a technologically –skilled and cyber-savvy workforce and an effective pipeline of future employees."

- Initiative #8 to Expand Cyber Education from the Comprehensive National Cybersecurity Initiative

Both the public and the private sectors are suffering from the lack of highly trained and effective cyber security leaders. In response, the Government, Private Companies, and the Educational Community are all exploring ways to retrain the existing workforce and grow new cybersecurity experts in the workforce of tomorrow.

The Cyber Education Symposium was established to present a rare opportunity for meaningful cyber education discussions fueled by the best and brightest minds from the Government (.gov), the Private Sector (.com), and the Educational Community (.edu), so that a fresh collaborative approach may start to take shape. This symposium will provide the innovative thinking coupled with best practices to drive the future of cyber education in America.
