Darlene E. Coen
Deputy Program Manager
NASA SEWP Program

Mrs. Darlene E. Coen currently serves as the Deputy Program Manager for the NASA SEWP Program, which is a premier Government-Wide Acquisition Contract (GWAC) providing access to the latest in Information Technology products to the entire Federal Government. Mrs. Coen, with more than 25 years of federal government experience, manages procurement oversight, financial policy and SEWP’s overall business administration. Prior to leading this effort, Mrs. Coen served as a NASA Contracting Officer where she provided a full range of procurement support for the most complex acquisitions in excess of $250 billion. Prior to NASA, Mrs. Coen worked for various agencies within the Department of Defense and the Department of Transportation, as well as several private industry firms. She is an active participant in The National Contract Management Association (NCMA) and has received several federal awards including The Acquisition Improvement Award. Raised in Maryland, Mrs. Coen earned a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) in Management Studies from the University of Maryland University College and received her Defense Acquisition Workforce Improvement Act (DAWIA) Level III certification from the Defense Acquisition University in 2005.

Alexander Marshall
Technical Strategy Manager
NASA SEWP Program

Mr. Alexander Marshall is the Technical Strategy Manager for the NASA SEWP Program. In this role, Mr. Marshall provides input for the technical strategic direction of the Program and plays an active role in the day-to-day operations of SEWP, a premier Government-Wide Acquisition Contract (GWAC) providing Federal Agencies access to the latest in Information Technology product solutions. Before assuming his current role, Mr. Marshall, a 14-year veteran of the SEWP Program, served as both a software developer and the Contract Holder Relationship Manager (CHRM). As CHRM, Mr. Marshall was responsible for developing and maintaining tools and procedures to effectively manage the relationship between the SEWP Program and its Contract Holders. Prior to SEWP, Mr. Marshall served for 16 years as a software engineer and project manager while working in the public safety software sector. Mr. Marshall earned a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science from the University of Maryland University College in College Park, Maryland.

Bill McNally
Assistant Administrator for Procurement and Deputy Chief Acquisition Officer
NASA

Mr. Bill McNally is the Assistant Administrator for Procurement and Deputy Chief Acquisition Officer at NASA. He directs NASA’s procurement functions throughout the Agency, providing strategic policy, leadership, and direction. He guides and oversees NASA’s procurement activities in every area from programs studying the Earth to missions going into our solar system. He represents NASA procurement to the Executive and Legislative branches of the Federal Government, industry, and international organizations. Mr. McNally was appointed as the Assistant Administrator for Procurement in September 2007.

Mr. McNally joined NASA in October 2005 as special procurement advisor in the Exploration Systems Mission Directorate. In this position, he provided strategic direction and contract management advice for all elements of the directorate’s portfolio, which included the development of the Ares and Orion vehicles.

Mr. McNally was with the Air Force until he retired in 2003 at which time he joined industry. He provided consulting advice to NASA as part of the Exploration Systems Architecture Study. He was a senior acquisition manager at two companies where he provided consulting advice and training to Federal Agencies on Performance Based Acquisition and acquisition advice to the Pentagon Renovation Program.

During his 26 year military career, Mr. McNally was involved in many facets of acquisition. These included positions as a contract administrator and industrial specialist for the Atlas Space Program, as a contracting officer and manager for the Tomahawk Cruise Missile, and as the Director of Technology Contracts at the Strategic Defense Initiative Office. As a Commander of a Defense Plant Office he oversaw the contract performance and business operations of a major defense company. He was the Chief of Air Force Contracting Policy and the Military Deputy in the Secretary of Defense’s Acquisition Reform Office. Mr. McNally shared his procurement expertise as a professor at the Defense Systems Management College and as the Air Force Element Commander at the Defense Acquisition University.

Mr. McNally holds a Level III certification in Contracting. He is a Certified Professional Contracts Manager, a Fellow and Board of Director in the National Contract Management Association. His decorations include the NASA Exceptional Service medal, the Air Force Legion of Merit, the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Defense Superior Service Medal, and numerous Joint and Air Force Commendations Medals.
Mr. Betsy Sirk is the Program Manager for the NASA SEWP Program. Ms. Woytek manages the strategic direction, planning and day-to-day operations of SEWP - a premier Government-Wide Acquisition Contract (GWAC) providing Federal Agencies access to the latest in Information & Communication Technology product solutions. Ms. Woytek, a 38-year veteran to Goddard Space Flight Center (GSFC) in Greenbelt Maryland, has served in her current Program Management role for the past sixteen years. She has been a key figure in the continual evolution of SEWP since its inception more than twenty years ago. In this capacity, she has received more than ten performance awards from NASA including: The Acquisition Improvement Award, Customer Service Excellence Award, Group Achievement Award, and The Productivity Improvement and Quality Enhancement Award; as well as the Coalition for Government Procurement’s 2014 Lifetime Acquisition Excellence Award, and the MAGIC 2013 Acquisition Excellence Government and Industry Cooperation Award. Prior to SEWP, Ms. Woytek served as a NASA mathematician focused on systems administration, database management, and user application programming. Ms. Woytek is on the Acquire Government Advisory Council, an ACT/IAC Fellow, an active member of the National Contract Management Association (NCMA), and Elected Customer Member Representative for The Open Group Governing Board.
