THE NCSI DIFFERENCE

At NCSI, we are experts in the planning, marketing, and execution of both in person and virtual conferences and expositions custom tailored to meet the requirements of our Government clients. When it comes to Government no-cost conferences, our experience, capabilities, resources, flexibility, customer service, and track record of success are unmatched.

Marketing, promotional, and creative capabilities that yield record breaking event participation results.

Recipient of the James S. Cogswell Outstanding Industrial Security Achievement Award. The only event planning company to ever receive this prestigious award.

The ability to work on classified and unclassified projects.

The capability to plan, launch, and produce a successful turnkey conference with just a few months of lead time.

Substantial marketing and logistical investments to bolster recurring annual events.

VIRTUAL EVENT OPTIONS

NCSI has pivoted to help the government produce virtual meetings, conferences, symposiums, and exhibit halls. Our services remain the same, we have just found new platforms for virtual content delivery. With live demos, presentations, keynotes, breakout sessions, Q&A, and networking opportunities over government approved platforms, we are providing forums to connect thousands of people face to face. Our website allows for increased information sharing and networking opportunities. We can create content for a website specific to your event, as well as host registration for all participants. We can also assist with VIP and speaker management as needed with your agenda.

TURNKEY DELIVERABLES

NCSI offers registration, marketing, audiovisual production (both virtual and in person), exhibit hall management, online engagement, security, website, and turnkey conference planning services. NCSI will take on the site selection and negotiation process to ensure all deliverables for your meeting are met. In addition, NCSI will sign venue contracts, which further reduces any risk to the government. We approach each task with meticulous attention-to-detail and are dedicated to carefully planning each event thoroughly and completely in order to ensure flawless execution throughout the life-cycle of each event.

INDUSTRY ENGAGEMENT, EDUCATION, AND TRAINING

NCSI can customize industry engagement to fit the mission and requirements of the hosting organization. NCSI has experience tailoring events to satisfy a wide variety of objectives including outreach, training, and educational goals. Expositions and industry showcases can be co-located with other planned conferences or meetings to enhance the experience of the attendees, as well as integrated into the event agenda during virtual events.

ENGAGE NCSI'S SERVICES

We can work with you to facilitate virtual or in person meetings and events using our no-cost model, which means that there is no fee for our service for the Government. The vast majority of events we work on are conducted using a customizable MOU to serve as the formal agreement of roles, responsibilities, and deliverables for NCSI and the government. These no-cost agreements state that NCSI will coordinate all logistical aspects of the event at no cost to the government hosting organization, and is able to recoup the costs incurred by producing and executing the event by charging attendees, sponsors, and exhibitors. The fees cover items such as event production, overhead, logistical support, supplies, NCSI labor hours, etc. NCSI's business model was actually used as a case study for GAO Ruling B-308968, which validates our no-cost model as a legal and fully permissible means by which any Federal agency may produce an official event. We also have a no cost option on our GSA contract that is available for use by all government agencies.
